incorporating Emmott & Bradley

Pricing Information April 2021

Each funeral we arrange and conduct is unique to the individual and their families. Whilst the majority are bespoke in nature, some need to be different due to personal wishes, faith or financial considerations. As an independent family business we can recognise the individual needs and requirements of our clients, and offer our guidance and support throughout this most difficult of times.

The cost of a funeral is significant and often unexpected. It is our aim to be as transparent as possible with regard to our prices. We guarantee never to sell our clients any product or service that is not necessary or required in the provision of our services. All disbursements, the things we purchase on your behalf, are charged at cost.

Whilst we do not profess to provide 'budget funerals', which rely on a high and rapid turnover, we do endeavour to keep our charges and all related costs at a realistic and affordable level.

In line with our aim to be transparent, we have created some fixed price options for the provision of funeral services which can be purchased as a package or used to assist you to determine the potential cost of a funeral.

Unfortunately, fixed price options cannot allow for products or services to be added, additional administration costs would mean moving to our bespoke price list.

As a cautionary note: - we would advise that when comparing prices you should ensure that all products and services are comparable and that you will received the same professional care and guidance.
